It is with utmost pleasure that I share with you the third edition of our College Newsletter, "Bornil" — a vibrant reflection of the energy, spirit, and achievements that have defined this academic session so far.

The new academic session began on a note of promise with the Induction Programme for our freshers on 1st August, a day that welcomed new dreams and aspirations into the Moran Commerce College family. That sense of warmth and togetherness only grew stronger during the Freshers' Social on 29th August, when laughter, friendship, and a true feeling of belonging filled the campus.

Our Establishment Day on 25th August was celebrated with both pride and grace. The presence of distinguished guests elevated the occasion, reminding us of the rich legacy we continue to build together.

A special moment of pride came with the release of our College Magazine, "Pratidhwani". Within its pages live the creativity, imagination, and intellectual spark of our students and teachers — a lasting testament to the talent that thrives here.

In keeping with the spirit of care and opportunity, the Nijut Moina and Nijut Babu forms were distributed so that every eligible student could benefit from the Government's welfare initiatives. Alongside this, we introduced a refreshed college uniform — a simple yet meaningful step towards deeper institutional identity, shared discipline, and unity among us all.

On 19th September, the college observed Zubeen Divas (Zubeen Garg Commemoration) with deep respect and solemnity, paying tribute to the legendary Assamese singer, composer, and cultural icon whose music continues to inspire generations. The day was marked by remembrance of his immense contribution to Assamese art and culture, reaffirming our collective pride in the rich cultural heritage of our state.

I am deeply grateful to every member of the teaching and non-teaching staff, and to our students, whose enthusiasm and hard work have made these moments possible. Let us continue to carry forward the values and traditions of Moran Commerce College with pride, and let us keep striving together, for excellence in all that we do.

With warm regards and best wishes,

Dr. Nishi Borgohain
Principal
Moran Commerce College
